◆ MANEKINEKO ◆

Manekineko (Adam Catt and Yujiro Komatsu) first met in 1997 when they were roommates for a semester at Antioch College in Ohio, USA. At that time, they put off seriously pursuing music and set out on their own paths of self-discovery. For Adam, this was training in a Zen monastery, and for Yujiro, this was being involved in NPO/NGOs and teaching activities. By exploring the self and its place in society, both came to realize the importance of the heart in their lives and activities.

A few years ago, Yujiro and Adam were graced with the encounter with their present guitar teacher, Fujii Keigo, a musician who tirelessly strives to pass on the essence of music to his students. In their rigorous lessons with Keigo, both were taught the value of communicating the heart to others through music. This realization of the purity and power of music is the driving force behind the Maneki Neko project.
